Cross Country Defends National Title

At Cedarville College the terms "cross country" and "NCCAA National Champions" are becoming synonymous. At least it has been that way for the last two years as Cedarville sports four All-American titles, two NCCAA National Championships, and the title of NCCAA Coach of the Year going to Cedarville coach Elvin King both of those years. Seniors Dale Shaw, Tom Yater and Dave Treese have stuck with it and are in a large part responsible for the last two NCCAA Championships, according to King, and are being looked to for the leadership to defend the squad's national title again this year.

"It is a kind of Cinderella story," commented King. Dale Shaw had only one year of running experience before coming to Cedarville, with Yater and Treese having never run in competition. The deficit in experience has been countered by a level of dedication which has provided them with successful careers. The three seniors will be supported by sophomore, Dave Averill, one of last year's strong track men; last year's no. 7 runner, Dean Johnson; and Ryan Spencer. Spencer was out for the season last year after breaking a bone in his foot during the first meet, but will be back healthy this year. Senior Dave Bergandine and sophomore John Harbeck, both first timers to the Yellow Jacket squad, will be trying to break into the top seven.

Pete Coblentz, Gary Anderson and Don Bisbee are three freshmen threats which could be a great deal of help to the team by the end of the season. Coblentz has gotten off to a slow start because of a foot injury, but should be to full strength before long. Also attempting to work their way into the Yellow Jacket squad are freshmen Dave Sallee, Joe McDonald, and Gary Bernard.

The team as a whole is coming into summer camp in better shape than last year, making Coach King even more optimistic about their goal of a third NCCAA National title. Key meets for the team will be the Findlay Invitational on October 4, the NCCAA District III meet at Grace College, October 11, and the NCCAA Nationals to be hosted by Cedarville College on the 5-mile-course at John Bryan State Park on November 8.

Coach King has purposefully scheduled fewer meets and will be rotating his runners in those meets with the expressed purpose of spending more time in training. "We're striving to develop an attitude that what you do in a meet is a result of what you do in practice," reports King. To develop the individual runner to his fullest potential through hard training, rather than running a large number of meets to acquire awards, is our goal. That translates not only into the training of a runner, but also into the development of Christian character. King believes that the men are developing patterns now which will establish the direction of their entire life. By developing an attitude of discipline and hard work in the area of cross country, we will help the men in establishing strong Christian character, and that is our ultimate purpose. That theme is evident in the team's motto: "Life is not made of dreams that we dream, but by the choices we make." Cross Country at Cedarville is not made of dreams that are dreamed of accumulated awards, but by the choices made to dedicated training. It is that kind of dedication, attitude and character that make the terms "cross country" and "NCCAA National Champions" synonymous at Cedarville College.

Optimism Precedes Season

On September 1, Cedarville greeted 24 men to soccer camp, 11 of those being freshmen. Last year's season ended with mixed emotions. The Yellow Jackets brought home the Mid-Ohio Conference title out right for the first time in four years, and in addition finished second in the NAIA District 22 - our only loss in the district being handed down by nationally ranked Wilmington College. Yet the team ended the season with a disappointing 8-10-1 record.

Coach John McGillivray is optimistic about this year's team, "they have come to camp willing to work, with the desire to learn, and with the drive to win." That is a great starting point for any coach. Much of that desire and drive was slowed in the early stages of camp as half the team caught some sort of virus almost simultaneously, and the entire team was quarantined for a week. The bug has been shaken and now they are ready to go.

The kickers lost three men to graduation: Dan and Dave Standridge, along with goalie Wynn Gifford. Jim Barrett, Al and Ed Stewart and Mike Draa will also be missing from the Jacket line-up, with Carlton Birch returning as the only defenseman. Birch came to camp two weeks late due to illness, but rookie Sam Kester proved himself to fill into the defensive slot well. "He has the speed and the skills you want for defensive play," says McGillivray. Returning to fill the vacated backfield positions will also be sophomores James Fischer, Phil Miller and Dan DeLancey along with a converted mid-fielder senior Mark Leach. At times their play may be a little too conservative, to the point of creating dangerous situations, but all have shown marked improvement and with experience could prove to be a 3 year defensive threat.

Part of last year's scoring power was benched for the season when Larry Green and Tom Aitken were taken out due to injuries received in the first game of the season against Liberty Baptist. Aitken was leading scorer for the Yellow Jackets in 1978 and is back in scoring position for this

Callan's Comments

Athletics and the Christian Life

Hebrews 12: 4-11 " ... My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord nor faint when you are rebuked of Him: for whom the Lord loves, He chastens ... if you endure chastening, God deals with you as with sons ... We have had fathers of our flesh which corrected us and we gave them reverence ... for they chastened us after their own pleasure but He for our profit that we might be partakers of His holiness."

How many times do we begin a task determined to finish; yet somehow we tire, lose interest, or find another course to follow and soon discard the original pursuit?

Life seems to be like an obstacle course, full of hindrances, detours, pain, sweat, and tears. Is it any wonder we get tired, discouraged, bitter, and feel like quitting?

"Don't quit; don't be discouraged; try again; keep running; hold on; get up and finish!" is the cry of writers, preachers and coaches. Suffering must be viewed from God's eternal perspective, not man's. If we don't take suffering from God's viewpoint, we will feel ourselves hindered by difficulties. I feel athletics teaches us something of how to handle obstacles, pain, and suffering. In most sports, the road to success is paved with hard work, failure, determination, correction and more hard work. Why should we expect anything different out of the game of life? We coaches build our teams through the adversity of practice which, for the most part, is just plain hard work, sweat, and constant correction. Yet athletes commit, yes, expose themselves to such punishment so that they might become the athlete they and their coach envision. Hopefully, our athletic experiences will help us evaluate life and its problems in the same way. God is building into our lives through instruction and correction. He is molding us into a more perfect vessel for His use. We should have the same attitude and resiliency in life's race as we do in the athletic arena. Let's "fight the good fight; let's finish the course" because there is a victor's crown awaiting those who endure.

Field Hockey Keys on Basics

Having the majority of last year's squad back will hopefully be the key to a stronger program as the 1980 Field Hockey team seeks to improve their 2-7-1 record of last year. Under the direction of third-year coach Becky Kuhn, the Yellow Jackets will be striving to rebuild the 1980 season into a winning concern.

Team members Sandy Fakan, Julie Jones, Debbie Kearsly, Sue Matzuras, Carol Morgan, Diane Reese, Carol Stoltzfus, Jane Sutherland, and Barb Vincent along with transfer, Mary Ellyn Squire, and Pat Turner, team manager were on board for camp on September 15.

There was a marked improvement in the team from 1978 to 1979 despite their losing season. Inexperience has plagued the team for some time, but this year's entire team comes with at least one if not two years of experience in intercollegiate competition.

The major goal through spring practice was the perfection of individual skills; that emphasis has been carried through into fall practice. The team is "working on the basics," says coach Kuhn, "not only in our field hockey skills, but as the team studies Philippians we are also working on perfecting the basics in our spiritual lives, academics, and personal lives."

The team is a close knit team, and Becky Kuhn reports they are great to work with. They put out and are willing to work hard. That will be essential as the team faces the 1980 schedule opening with Ashland College at home on October 2.

The team will be playing 10 matches this season. Most of the opponents for the Jackets will be coming from much larger schools, such as Miami University, the University of Toledo, Kent State, and the University of Dayton, along with the traditionally field hockey power, Wittenberg University. Other competition will be provided from traditional rivals and new opponents alike, such as Marietta, Wooster, Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein and Muskingum.

Carol Morgan and Sandy Fakan practice techniques for the upcoming season.

Spikers Face Rebuilding Year

With the return of only seven women and the loss of Brenda Hobar, last year's Most Valuable Player, Hitter and Blocker, as well as the loss of the Jacket's Most Valuable Defensive Player, Sue Palmer, this will, needless to say, be a rebuilding year. As tryouts were held September 22-24, Susie Riegle, Debbie Fakan, Joan Schmidt, Bonnie Beikert, Darcy Morton, Marcy Morton, and Mary Greening were the only former Jacket spikers on the home court.

With the loss of Hobar and Palmer, "we lost all our height," commented Coach June Kearney. We are looking for a good group of freshmen who will be big defensive people. There are several freshmen who on paper look good, but it will be hard to tell what their performance will actually be like until September 24th. One freshman Coach Kearney has seen and is counting on is Karen Hobar, sister to Cedarville sensation Brenda. Susie Riegle will be the one looked to for leadership to hold the team together. The team will be quick, and good setters, but the Jacket women will need the height and strength to drive the ball home and for good defensive play.

The new OASW Division worked well for the women last year - not only in Volleyball, but in all sports. It equalized competition and psychologically was better for the smaller schools as they went into tour-namment play, because they felt they had a chance to win and they were not just waiting to meet a super power.

With competition equalized in tournament play, Cedarville still does not shy away from the "super powers" in their regular schedule. The Yellow Jackets will be facing College of Mount Saint Joseph who finished second in the OASW Division II State Tournament, and will also challenge the team who finished fifth in the nation in Division II play, University of Dayton.

Cedarville's region is one of the strongest if not the strongest Division III region in the state of Ohio. This region took three out of the top four places in the state tournament last year. Ohio Northern University was the OASW Division II State Tournament winner and will be coming back in full force.

"We have never had a losing season at Cedarville; we want to maintain that record and qualify for the State Tournament," reports Coach Kearney. "We especially win at home. It's a Cedarville phenomenon, you turn on the lights in the gym and you have a crowd." October 2nd is the home opener for the Yellow Jacket women vs. Urbana College and Cincinnati Tech at 6:30 p.m.

Coach: Mrs. Becky Kuhn

Soccer players and fans alike at Cedarville mention the name Larry Bollback with a type of reverent awe. And, in reality, it's not stretching the point to call him the best soccer player Cedarville has known.

As a player at Cedarville, Larry was both All-Mid-Ohio Conference and All-NAIA for four consecutive years. In his sophomore year he was named an Honorable Mention All-American, and as a junior was named 2nd team All-American.

Even though he now calls Cedarville "the greatest American college," it was a last minute decision that brought him here.

"I came to Cedarville through Coach Callan," says Larry, also known for his basketball talents. "He was visiting Word of Life one weekend, and I was going to go to another college on a soccer scholarship. But he talked me into Cedarville, and it proved to be the right decision.

Which isn't to say it was completely a success story. "I wavered spiritually for three years at school, in and out of the Lord's will. I wasn't really doing anything for the Lord."

But during the summer after his third year at Cedarville, a change occurred that would affect Larry for a long time to come.

"In the summer of 1973 I committed my life totally and completely to the Lord. It was then that I began praying about the mission field. Being raised an M.K., missions was always near and dear to my heart."

Larry spent two summers on an M.I.S. team in Brazil, and when he graduated in 1975, he knew he wanted to go to the mission field. But there was one other choice—soccer.

"After I graduated, I was drafted by the North American Soccer League, so I had to make a decision. My Dad said, 'Why don't you go find out what you're worth?' But we (he and his wife, Cindi) just ignored the opportunity. We were going to be missionaries."

The decision to go to Portugal was a difficult one, though. While at Cedarville in 1973, Larry drove down to Louisville for a weekend to meet his dad, Harry Bollback, who challenged him to pray about Portugal. Having grown up in Brazil, the thought of Portugal nearly made Larry laugh.

All-American Larry Bollback controls the ball for Cedarville.

"The standard Brazilian joke is a Portuguese joke," he says. "Brazilians really look down on Portugal and its people."

But within ten months after graduating from Cedarville, Larry and Cindi had raised their support, secured their visas, and were on the field in Portugal. And both were M.K.'s who had grown up speaking Portuguese.

"It was really a thrill to see the Lord work," says Larry. "Our deputation took only four months. The government wasn't giving out visas, but ours came through in two weeks. It was exciting to see Him perform miracle after miracle."

Sports has been a great asset in the Portugal ministry. Says Larry, "It's been a tremendous open door. We use a soccer and evangelism program to get into high schools. Also, every city has their official team. We challenge the local team, and then use the opportunity to give testimonies and a message. Sports has been a tool not only to build character in my life, but the Lord has used it to lead others to Him."

The work in Portugal centers around the Word of Life Bible Club program. The program is now sponsored there in 40 churches, training about 750 teenagers weekly to take on teaching positions in the local church. "We train lay leadership to run the youth program in the church," explains Larry. "It's a content oriented ministry run on a five year revolving program with evangelistic outreaches every ten weeks."

"We also hold evangelistic crusades with the local churches. We hold seminars for four nights, and then go out on the fifth and hold a street meeting and apply what has been learned in the seminars. We've seen 1200 saved in four years in these crusades."

Construction is about to begin on a camp just northeast of Lisbon. It is hoped that it will be completed by the beginning of next summer. The facility will also serve as a Bible Institute.

Larry and Cindi Bollback are currently home on furlough, having completed their first term. Larry will be speaking in chapel here during homecoming week, and will also participate in the alumni soccer game that weekend.

Soccer Team to Ivory Coast

Fifteen members of the soccer team are busy preparing for their second short-term missionary trip to the Ivory Coast this Christmas. A team took a similar trip over Christmas vacation two years ago.

The team will be working with Cedarville graduates Ruth and Allen Fisher, who are in their second term of service in the Ivory Coast under Baptist Mid-Missions. Their ministry there will involve playing games against local village teams and then presenting the gospel through singing and testimonies at halftime and after the games.

Coach John McGillivray says the language barrier and playing condition can often provide discouragement. "When we give our testimonies, it is translated into the local dialect. But we try to share the gospel through the way we play, also. But the fields are often in very bad condition and the officials are poor. It makes it a real test sometimes."

McGillivray will be accompanied by 15 players and one or two extra men who will be working on some other projects for the Fishers while they are there. Each of them must raise their own support, which is expected to be around $1300. The team will be sponsoring a Goal-A-Thon again this year in an attempt not only to help raise some support, but also raise money for banners, balls, nets and socks to take along. The banners and socks are given to the natives as part of the ministry. After the last trip, Fisher reported how one of these small guts had been used.

"The representative of this area to the national government lives in the town just one mile south of us. His title is Secretaire General du P.D.R.C.I. The team from Keibli, his town, played the Cedarville team near the end of their short stay here. Earlier in their visit, he had invited the team for a meal at his residence. The team gave him a Cedarville pennant. About a week ago, I had occasion to go to his residence again. There, hanging from the chandelier in the middle of the reception room, was a blue and gold Cedarville pennant."

While there, the team will play six to 10 games each week. Although it is hard for them to give a direct ministry with the players or fans, McGillivray says they are quite helpful in opening doors for the missionaries. "The big thing that happens as a result of our being there is that they can go back in and set up camps. Prior to our being there, they had been very hostile. It really has opened the door."

Not only is it an aid to the missionaries, but it is also quite an experience for the players. "It's good experience for our guys," says McGillivray. It gives them a chance to find out what the mission field is like. It really is a two-way experience."

Not only is the schedule tiring and demanding while they are on the field, but there is also quite a bit of preparation in the coming weeks. The team would appreciate active prayer support not only as they minister in the Ivory Coast, but also now as they prepare physically and spiritually for their ministry.

year. He will be aided by last year's leading scorer, Jeff Bowser, John DeLancey and another rookie Dave Bowser.

The mid-field is full of experience as Seniors Dave Merkh, and NAIA All American player and MVP Dave Cox return to the mid-field position aided by Junior Mark Wells. Sophomores Bobby Shomo and Craig Herl will also be adding depth and experience to the squad's mid-field, along with rookie Dave Jones. In a short raindout scrimmage vs. Ohio State University it was obvious the Yellow Jackets can move the ball, and get the good scoring opportunities.

The goalie position was a particularly troublesome position and weak spot for the Yellow Jackets last year. Tim Graham returns showing excellent progress and has three freshmen challenging for that position. A Cedarville native and football transfer Scott Dixon, along with two goalies with high school experience Chad Smith and Randy Owens, will add a lot of depth to that position, a luxury Cedarville has not enjoyed for some time.

Cedarville's competition seems to become increasingly tough as soccer becomes popularized in America. MOC foe, Walsh College, has been a consistently strong competitor and only lost one to graduation last year. Malone suffered their only defeat to Cedarville last year. At one point a Malone soccer team was considered a push over, but has greatly improved and are now keen competition. The NAIA District 22 dynasty held by the Quakers of Wilmington College only lost their goal keeper to graduation and will be back in full force. Wittenberg, Dennison, Wright State, Ohio Wesleyan, Earlham, University of Dayton, and Asbury add to an already stiff schedule, along with Homecoming challenger Geneva College.

In short, the loss of several players and a slow start to the season cause a gray cast over the picture. Yet the first few weeks of camp have shown a lot of bright spots, and rays of hope for a bright season.

Jacket Kickers Open Season

The Cedarville College soccer team marked its second week of practice and the opening of the 1980 season with the Cedarville College Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday, September 12, 13. Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky.; Huntington College, Huntington, Ind.; Tennessee Temple, Chattanooga, Tenn.; and host, Cedarville College, met in the quad tournament. All teams in the tournament have a history of good soccer; Asbury being NAIA District 32 winner in '74, '75, and '76; and Huntington representing NAIA Area IV in the NAIA Nationals in 1975, and as one of the final four in NCCAA District play last fall. Tennessee Temple is not a member of the NAIA, but has been a consistently strong team keying on defense and a strong recruitment program.

"Tennessee Temple may be the team to beat," reported Cedarville Head Coach John McGillivray, just prior to the tournament. McGillivray's expectations of Temple were accurate, as Temple walked away proudly carrying the first place trophy. In Tennessee Temple's first game against the scrappy Huntington team, neither team looked too awesome. Temple clearly dominated, but narrowly won the match 2 to 1.

The Yellow Jackets outscored Asbury on Friday 4 to 2, with a goal by Jeff Bowser and a penalty kick by Tom Aitken in the first half. After goals by Dave Cox and Bobby Shomo in the second half the stage was set for Saturday's final game vs. Tennessee Temple University.

"Tennessee Temple capitalized on our mistakes," commented McGillivray as he reviewed the game. The only two goals scored by Asbury came on our errors. Tennessee Temple took much better advantage of those errors in the Saturday game and outscored Cedarville 3-0 in the first half.

The game demonstrated the depth of our bench, however, as midfielders Craig Herk and Bobby Shomo came off the bench in the second half to score our only 2 goals for the match. Freshman midfielder Dave Jones and sophomore fullback James Fisher have also come through strong early in the season. Saturday's game against Temple was what Coach McGillivray called "a sloppy game typical of early season play and a result of lack of experience." Four starting Cedarville Carleton Birch, Dan Delancey and John Delancey and Dave Cox were all out due to injuries or illness.

Asbury defeated Huntington in the consolation round 2-0.

Shaw Takes First, Smashes Record

Shaw struggles through pack of runners at mile mark.

Dale Shaw placed first in the Grace College Invitational on Saturday, September 20 by breaking the course record of 28:44 with a time of 26:36. The team as a whole showed a good deal of potential for the upcoming season.

Along with Shaw, Dave Averill, Dave Treese, Tom Yater, Pete Coblenz, Ryan Spencer and Dean Johnson helped bring home the third place spot in the field of 8 schools. Averill placed 9th with a time of 27:26, and Treese's 28:21 earned the 21st place spot. Tom Yater and freshman Pete Coblenz placed 30 and 31 respectively with times of 28:53 and 28:57. Spencer followed in the 33rd position with a time of 29:06, and Dean Johnson rounded out the top seven with a 29:39 to earn his 33th place.

The Cedarville harriers scored 100 behind first place Manchester who scored 30 points and second place Anderson's 61 point total. Anderson College will be an added threat to the NCCAA National Championship this year as they join the competition for the first time. Other teams participating were Tri-State with 113, Marion College scored 149, St. Joseph's with a score of 169, Grace College and Grand Rapids Baptist College with scores of 264 and 278 respectively.

Cedarville Open a Success

The 8th Annual Cedarville College Baptist Open was a huge success again this year, and displayed the fine talent of the college golf team.

Brian Johnson, a member of last year's Yellow Jacket team, and Bill Boulet, a transfer student this year, tied for first place in the championship flight at 146. Brian shot an amazing 68 the first day of the tournament, but fell to a 78 the second day. Bill Boulet shot a 73 each day. The team winner was Good News Baptist of Churubusco, Indiana, and Grace Baptist of Cedarville finished second.

The two-day event attracted 276 participants, with Akron Baptist Temple sending a busload of 22. The golfers were treated to a fine banquet Thursday evening after the first day of golf. President Dixon was the featured speaker, and a film of the 1980 Masters Tournament was shown.

The tournament was held on adjacent courses at Reid Park in Springfield. Not only was the weather terrific, but there was also plenty of close and exciting golf in each of the ten flights. George Finch of Westlake defeated Dr. Robert Gromacki of Cedarville in a one-hole playoff to win the second flight. Both men recorded scores of 155 in regular play. Woody Nelson of Akron shot 166 and Waymon Staples of Akron 165 in third flight. Four golfers tied in the fourth flight, and the playoff went six extra holes before Ken Fullerton of Parkersburg, West Virginia, emerged victorious, after tying 36 holes at 170.

Marc Combs of Jamestown had 173 and Howard Mawer of Paulding 174 in the fifth flight; Frank Havens of Middletown shot 172 and Ken Locke of Utica, Minn., 175 in the sixth; Arnold Loga of Strongsville had 179 and Wilbur Jennings of Dayton 185 in the seventh; Steve Deichert of Jamestown 194 and Doug Wilson of Covington, O., 196 in the 8th; Wade Garner of Sandusky 201 and Jay Graves of Lorain 202 in the ninth; and Larry Ismer of Painesville 210 and Bob Bielek of Westlake 216 in the final flight.
